TALK OF THE TOWN

Charles Preston of Marshfield was a business visitor in Barre this morning. Miss Ruth Bazzell of Brookfield called on a few friends in the city yesterday. Miss Ruth Norcross of Waterbury Center is visiting friends in the city for a day or two.

Miss Ellen Nute returned from Waterbury last night, where she has been visiting relatives.

John Parla of the Boston Fruit company, Concord, N. H., is visiting Louis Diversi of this city.

The regular meeting of the South Barre grange will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Edward O. McKay of Cliff street has gone to Boston for a few days' visit with his brother, Alfred.

A son weighing eight pounds, was born early Monday morning to Mr. and Mrs. James Greston of 123 Hill street. Dance in Howland hall Wednesday evening after the band concert. Gents 75c, ladies free. Gilbertson's orchestra.

Mrs. Clem J. Bartlett and daughter, Helen, of Northfield are visiting Mrs. Walter Perkins of Elm street for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wells of 24 Nelson street have gone to St. Albans for a few days' visit with friends and relatives.

Leo Sanborn and Miss Mandy Meeker spent the fourth and a few days with friends in Burlington and returned yesterday.

Mrs. L. P. Clough of 44 Nelson street, who has been visiting at York Beach, Me., for the past few days, arrived home last night.

The regular monthly meeting of the trustees of the City hospital will be held at the hospital building on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Jack Bainbridge, an operator for the past three years at the local Western Union Telegraph office, has been transferred to the Windsor office as manager.

Mrs. Sarah McCormick of New York City arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Keefe on Upland avenue this morning and plans to spend a week or two with her friends and relatives in Barre.

Miss Beulah Gee of Summer street, who has been working in Mitchell's Candy Kitchen and ice cream parlor, left this morning for Worcester, Mass., where she will join her father, and there make her home for the present.

A blue coat, which was brought to the police station on the night of July 4, remains unclaimed. The police have been holding it expecting someone would claim it. A letter was found in the inside pocket bearing the name of Jeffrey Frigon, Madison street.

A. Cardini of 13 Railroad street received word this morning from his nephew, Corporal A. Cardini, that he had arrived from France and was at Camp Mills waiting for his discharge. Corp. Cardini has been in France for eighteen months with the 28th engineer corps.

Joseph Jansensky was arrested yesterday in Granville by Deputy Sheriff Donahue and brought to Barre. The arrest was made after Sheriff Donahue had received a telegram from the Jersey City, N. J., official, where the man lived before his enlistment in the U. S. army. Since being discharged last February he has been working in the quarries in Granville and was somewhat surprised when informed by Sheriff Donahue that he was wanted by the authorities in New Jersey. No charge was specified, but it is believed he is wanted for non-support, since his wife resides in Jersey City.

The body of George Martin, whose death occurred in Washington, D. C., last Saturday after an illness of several years, arrived in Barre on the early morning train. The remains were taken to Williamstown in Perry & Noonan's ambulance for burial. As the funeral services were held in Washington Monday afternoon, only the usual prayer services were said at the graveside in the Williamstown cemetery. Mr. Martin was an old-time resident of Williamstown, but for the past several years had resided in Washington. He is survived by his wife in Washington, who before her marriage was Miss Julia Beckett, and a sister, Mrs. Henry Stewart, of Williamstown.

Much to the regret of almost every housekeeper, the strawberry season was very short this summer, and it is almost impossible to purchase any berries at this time. Too much rain at the first part of the season and the excessive heat of the past few weeks spoiled the harvest of the berry patches, most of which yielded less amounts than usual. Especially true was this of new patches, as these bore almost no fruit at all. The season has ended and the popular opinion throughout the state is that it was far below normal. The shelves that usually are loaded down with great jars of the delicate fruits only contain many empty jars in almost every house as the exceedingly high price, caused by the shortage, prevented most people from storing away a generous supply for winter. There is one consolation, however, for the housekeeper, and that is about the raspberry crop. From all appearances Vermont will have a bumper year for both raspberries and blackberries, and the canning season that usually begins with strawberry time will be a trifle late in starting, but eventually all the spare jars will be filled with the later berries.

CLIMATE AND TRAINING.

Continue to Restore the Tuberculous Soldiers.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The federal board for vocational education has just completed an arrangement with the University of Arizona, located at Tucson, whereby a training center will be established for the benefit of disabled soldiers. Climatic conditions in this part of Arizona make it a particularly desirable place for soldiers who have been gassed or who are suffering with tuberculosis. The training center will not, however, limit its opportunities to such men, but will receive any discharged soldier whose disability received while in service marks him as a subject for retraining. Students may be admitted to the regular courses in agriculture, engineering or commercial subjects, or special courses will be provided when necessary for disabled men requiring intensive practical training, leading to employment in a short time.

Regular meeting of Barre aerie, 1573, F. O. E., Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Initiation.

Dance in Howland hall Wednesday evening after the band concert. Gents 75c, ladies free. Gilbertson's orchestra.

MONTPELIER

Several Changes Made in the Montpelier Seminary Official Family.

The adjourned annual meeting of the trustees of Montpelier seminary took place Tuesday afternoon in the administration building of the institution when the new officers for the coming year were elected. These are: President, W. P. Dillingham; vice-president, Rev. William Shaw; secretary, Rev. A. W. Hewitt, all of whom were re-elected. Henry Holt, who has been treasurer for several years, declined a re-election as treasurer or to serve on the board longer, his term having expired, and Rev. F. W. Lewis was elected treasurer in his place. The vacancy caused by Mr. Holt's action was not filled yesterday. There are also two other vacancies, namely, W. J. Bigelow, whose term expired, and T. B. Hall, deceased. These will be filled later.

The executive committee was changed. The new board is Rev. F. W. Lewis, Senator W. P. Dillingham, Rev. William Shaw, Rev. W. G. Mead, Rev. A. W. Hewitt and Rev. J. W. Hatch, who had been re-elected principal at an increased salary.

Mr. Shaw was elected chairman and Mr. Hewitt secretary. The names of Henry Holt and H. M. Farnham were taken from the executive family. L. D. Taft of Montpelier was elected to the board of investment in place of Mr. Shaw, who was elected auditor in place of Mr. Lewis, who went to the treasurer'ship.

The executive committee organized in the evening by electing Mr. Shaw chairman and considered the year's plans, including repairs and the changes in the faculty.

Benjamin Gates of Montpelier has settled his account as administrator of the estate of Maude Moore, late of Montpelier. Frank Lafayette has settled his account in probate court as guardian of Perley Lafayette of Barre town.

The divorce of Carrie Lance of Cabot vs. L. Clyde Lance of that town has been filed in Washington county court.

Fred Green of Northfield is taking Clarence Haskins' place in the Rivers drug store while the latter is on his vacation.

Jesse Tebbetts of Cabot was a visitor in the city yesterday.

The resignation of E. B. Hutchinson, who has been union superintendent in Bennington county, has been accepted by Commissioner M. B. Hillegas.

Redfield Proctor was at the State House yesterday, gathering data connected with the number of men who went into the war from Rutland county.

Senator Mrs. W. A. Root of Bennington called on friends in the city yesterday. They also visited the State House. They are enjoying an automobile trip through the state.

Insurance Commissioner J. G. Brown is enjoying a vacation in New Hampshire.

Cipriano Canales is awaiting a reply from the Framingham, Mass., chief of police to the man who was taken in custody there last Saturday after biting a policeman, and who is claimed to be either crazy or suffering with the heat.

Cesarino Canales, brother of the above, left Montpelier a year ago last April and nothing has been heard of him, although relatives have tried to trace him. He had been suffering a mental trouble before leaving here, it is said.

The following item, which appeared in the Boston papers, gave Mr. Canales a clue which he hopes may turn out to be about his lost brother: "Framingham, July 5.—An unknown man, believed to be either crazy with the heat or an anarchist, is under arrest at the police station. He was taken from a train about 9:40 this morning on a telephone statement that he had been acting queerly. On being taken to the station he resisted being placed in the cell and bit the arm of one of the officers. Officer Taylor met the 9:42 train from the West and the unknown, who is a powerfully built foreigner, either Austrian or Pole, about 35 years of age, was taken to the police station. He was muzzling to himself and when an attempt was made to put him in the cell room he bit Policeman Huntington on the arm and bit the arm placed in a cell. Later he will be searched and an effort made to discover his identity."

Dr. C. H. Burr requests that physicians having cases under quarantine July 1 report same to him, also that heads of families where no physician is in attendance, as the release from quarantine must come from the district health officer.

Messages have been received here that Lieut. Gov. Mason S. Stone has returned from France, where he has been in Y. M. C. A. work.

The board of control commenced this morning further sessions on routine state business, including salaries of state employees.

The case of John Crozier vs. the Hamlet Garvey Lumber company has been filed in county court by E. M. Harvey, attorney for the plaintiff.

Secretary of State Harry A. Black this morning suspended the following three automobile operators' licenses: Perley R. Eaton, Rutland, for an accident and not reporting the same; Harold J. Bruce, Worcester, for alleged operation of car while intoxicated; Patrick W. O'Connor, Bellows Falls, for reckless driving, of which he had been convicted.

Raymond Wedge, about 23 years of age, died during the night after six months' illness of a complication of diseases. He had lived in Montpelier practically all his life. He was a son of Mrs. Ernest Kaiser, and is survived by his mother and step-father. He was employed for some time by the Tenney company. He was injured several years ago which materially affected his health. The funeral arrangements are not completed.

Louis Provost, who has been in the army for some time, has resumed his duties in the Montpelier and Barre Light & Power Co. office.

Major and Mrs. E. N. Sanctuary are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Deavitt. Their sister-in-law, Mrs. Sanctuary, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Macy on Cliff street.

The regular meeting of the city council takes place this evening, when some proposition to improve conditions about Berlin pond will be considered. Some of the council went this afternoon to the pond to see the water conditions there.

Dr. Charles Dalton and the other members of the state board of health were in Montpelier to-day to meet the board of control relative to their plans for the coming year.

Miss Julia Holland, who has been suffering infection as a result of having a tooth drawn, is recovering.

LENS SHOWING SIGNS OF BUSINESS REVIVAL

The City Still Looks as If Giant Sledge Hammers Had Pounded It to Pieces But There Are Indications of Rehabilitation.

Paris, July 7. (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Lens, the most thoroughly devastated town of the war, is showing signs of revival. When the Associated Press correspondent visited this erstwhile busy coal mining center of the department of the Pas de Calais early this year, it still looked as though a set of giant sledge hammers had pounded the whole place to atoms. To the west of it lies the grim battlefield of Loos, which has the curious appearance of a petrified sea. The soil has been plowed up in an extraordinary manner by thousands of poisonous gas bombs, which have tinged the sparse vegetation an unhealthy gray.

Before the war, Lens had 30,000 inhabitants. When the correspondent visited the locality in its state of hopeless desolation, there were only three sturdy optimists left, who led a cave-men's existence among the ruins. Their nearest point to get food was Bully-Grenay, 10 miles away, and there was no transportation.

Things have been mending since. Today about 3,000 of the exiled inhabitants have returned. They are housed in corrugated iron huts formerly used by the British army. The cleaning up of the place, begun by Chinese and German prisoner work squads, is taking on more speed. The approaches have been laid bare to cellars and underground shelters which have been occupied by homeless "house hunters." Even building of a sort is going on; the material used being such odds and bits of wood, stone and iron as were still serviceable in the huge rubbish heap that once was Lens.

In the Pas de Calais department alone, 150 townships and villages are in the same plight as Lens, or nearly so. The task of making these places fit to live in again is a herculean one. Labor is available in adequate numbers, but to lodge and feed the men is a great problem. The latest suggestion is to use covered army motor trucks as temporary shelters for the workers by whose efforts Lens is to arise from its ashes.

Ratify the Whole Treaty.

A minority of the American Senate is threatening to prevent or delay the ratification of this invaluable treaty. Some of the reasons given for such delay or defeat can only be described as ignominious and dastardly. They represent the American people as tired of their disinterested crusade for justice and liberty throughout the world, and desirous of returning to their former belief in their own prosperity and safety through isolation.

Let the American people make known to the Senate that they hold firmly to the ideals with which they went to war in April, 1917, and that they are not so stupid as to believe that the United States can avoid sharing in any political and industrial calamities which may afflict the rest of the world. Other arguments used against the treaty suggest that the American people should be careful about assuming new responsibilities for the welfare of other nations, and should keep its breath to cool its own hot porridge. These, too, are arguments which appeal to the less generous and idealistic side of the American character. Hence, they will be unsuccessful. One great lesson of the war is that the American people will support their government in doing everything possible to promote public liberty, health and happiness not only at home but in any part of the world to which its influence can extend, and will pledge to that cause "their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor," as the signers of the Declaration of Independence said to each other on July 4, 1776.

The covenant and treaty—they are inseparable—will go down in history as the most memorable international agreement ever made. It will probably be many years before the details of the struggle at Paris will become known to the world; but one thing is now known—America contributed a great hope and a noble inspiration.—By Dr. Charles W. Eliot in New York Times.

Unnatural Science.

"Children," said the teacher toward the close of the geography lesson in Australia, "there is one animal that no one has mentioned. It is quite tall, and does not stand up on its legs all of the time. It cannot walk like other animals and people, and takes little skips. What is it?"

"Charlie Chaplin," yelled the row of movie fans on the front seat.—Gargyle.
